

Jionglin Andy Zheng

EMPLOYMENT

International Monetary Fund	since 2025
Economist (Economist Program) • Asia and Pacific Department	Washington, D.C.

EDUCATION

Johns Hopkins University	2019–2025
Ph.D. and M.A. in Economics	Baltimore, MD
Dissertation title: Essays on Inflation and Exchange Rates
Primary advisor: Laurence M. Ball
Wake Forest University	2015–2019
B.S. in Mathematical Statistics and Computer Science	Winston-Salem, NC
Summa Cum Laude

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Macroeconomics, International Finance, Finance

RESEARCH

Job Market Paper

On Different Measures of Labor Market Slack: Through the Lens of the Phillips Curve

Working Papers

2. Exchange Rate Responses to Geopolitical Risk and Trade Policy Uncertainty: Cross-Country Evidence, with Nino Kodua and Sinem Yagmur Toraman
1. Sectoral and State Evidence on the Pandemic Beveridge Curve Shift, with Nino Kodua and David Osten

Non-academic Work

Panics, Runs, and Contagion: a Digital Turning Point?

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

CICC Global Institute (Policy Research Department)	2024
Research project on digital run dynamics and their policy implications for financial stability in developing countries	Beijing, China

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Graduate Teaching Assistant, Department of Economics	2020–2025
Public Finance	2024F
Elements of Macroeconomics	2020F, 2021F, 2022F, 2024S, 2025S
Elements of Microeconomics	2021S, 2022S, 2023S, 2023F

PRESENTATIONS

Johns Hopkins University Macro Seminar	2022S, 2023S, 2024S, 2024F
--	----------------------------

HONORS AND AWARDS

Ph.D. Departmental Fellowship	2019-2025
Joel Dean Undergraduate Teaching Award	2022, 2023, 2025
Barry & Ann Griffin Driggs Scholarship	2018
Wake Forest Research Fellowship	2018
Dean's List	2015-2019
Phi Beta Kappa	2019

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Software: Stata, MATLAB, R, Python, LaTeX

Language: English (Fluent), Mandarin (Native), French (Intermediate), Korean (Basic)

Interests: Photography, Reading, Movies, Soccer

REFERENCES

Laurence M. Ball, Ph.D.
Professor of Economics
Johns Hopkins University
lball@jhu.edu

Jonathan Wright, Ph.D.
Professor of Economics
Johns Hopkins University
wrightj@jhu.edu

Olivier Jeanne, Ph.D.
Professor of Economics
Johns Hopkins University
ojeanne@jhu.edu